

Black Pool, Alan Counihan, 1997

Commissioned by the City of Dublin, “Black Pool” is located in Alamo Creek Park. It was created by artist Alan Counihan of Dublin, Ireland. The work serves as a visual link or bridge of the imagination, between the landscape of the park and that of the surrounding soft rolling hills. It was created to invoke a sense of the area's ancient landscape and act as a reminder of the lives lived here for thousands of years.
