

Dust in the Universe, John King, 2000

Created by artist John King of Eureka, California and located in Kolb Park, "Dust in the Universe" uses a concrete tile "floor" to represent themes in particle physics. John comments that many people see them as ancient hieroglyphics, Celtic designs, or carvings from Native Americans.