

Know Way, Robert Ellison, 2003

This sculpture by Roger Ellison depicts two arching pillars framing the entrance of the Dublin Library. The pillar on the right side of the entrance has an open book on top. The pillar on the left side of the entrance has a spiral form and computer mouse on top. The sculpture is formed of steel and fiberglass and painted in a satin pastel color palette. Ellison, who died in September of 2012, has work on exhibit in both private collections and public spaces around the world, many of which are towering and weigh tons. Local placements include his "Sun Zone," reminiscent of ice cream cones, at the entrance to the Sonoma County Administration Center; and "Bar Note Bench" at Sonoma State University's new Green Music Center.